STRATEGY PROPOSAL

The Cosmo Circle

Turning word of mouth into repeat sales

Growth strategy for Cosmo in Nigeria · Prepared for GVS Cosmetics · October 2026

Build a community that sells, not a ₦150m billboard

Instead of paying one influencer ₦150m upfront, invest up to ₦120m over 12 months in the Cosmo Circle: verified buyers who meet, share and sell, with every sale tracked by a code.

Staged, not all at once
Phase 1 risks ₦23m. Each later phase unlocks only when targets are hit.

2×
monthly revenue by October 2027

25,000
verified members by October 2027

35%
of members buying again within 90 days

Cosmo has awareness. What it needs now is loyalty

Made in Dubai

Sterling Perfumes Group; ISO 22716, ISO 9001 and Halal certified

80+ countries

Founded 2018; 2,500+ products across 20+ categories

Launched in 2024

2024 launch event with Kcee, Flavour and Ric Hassani

3 ambassadors

Nini, BamBam and Montana since November 2024

What this changes

- No "Made in Nigeria" claim: win on certified quality and reliable stock
- A weaker naira raises costs straight away
- "Organic" needs proof in a market burned by fake organic creams
- Micro creators already got people talking; now turn talk into repeat sales

A big market, growing mostly through higher prices

naira sales growth in 2025, with inflation near 20%

Euromonitor

$1.17bn

formal market in 2025, rising to $2.08bn by 2032

Markntel Advisors

$10.17bn

whole market in 2025, counting open markets and informal sellers

Beauty West Africa

14.63%

inflation in Sept 2026, down from 20.98% a year earlier

NBS, via Nairametrics

Growth must come from loyalty and share

Prices, not volumes, drive the growth; the market won't carry us.

Most spending happens outside formal shops

Reach resellers, salons and WhatsApp sellers.

2026–27 is a window

Spending power is recovering as inflation eases.

Big brands retreat; local brands win on closeness

Player	What they are doing	Lesson for Cosmo
NIVEA	₦3bn promotion to April 2026; 2m+ winners through codes on packs	Proof-of-purchase codes make loyalty measurable
PZ Cussons	Profit up 349%, helped by selling non-core assets	Avoid the mass soap and lotion price fight
Unilever, P&G, GSK	Stopped making goods locally or went import-only	Shoppers are switching; reliable stock wins
Zaron	Wide pharmacy reach makes it a first skin care buy	Be on the shelves people already visit
Arami, House of Coco	One hero product, or one skin problem owned	Give people one clear reason to recommend us
Counterfeiters	Over ₦3bn of fakes found in one Lagos warehouse, Feb 2026	Proving authenticity is a selling point

What buyers are saying, and how Cosmo answers

“Is this original?”

Bioré says it isn't sold in Nigeria; Vaseline launched a WhatsApp authenticator in April 2026

A code in every pack, checked on WhatsApp

“Organic labels can't be trusted”

NAFDAC sealed a maker selling “organic” creams with banned bleaching agents

Show certificates, ingredients and NAFDAC numbers

“Prices keep going up”

A weaker naira pushed up import costs and shelf prices

Minis, refills and member prices

“I just want even skin”

77% of Nigerian women use skin-lightening products (WHO survey)

Healthy, even skin: never lighter skin

Sources: ARISE; BusinessDay; Gazette; Scientific Reports (2023), citing a WHO survey

Nigerians buy on trust, from people they know

7 in 10 rely on personal recommendations

67.4% prefer businesses that offer rewards

6 in 10 switched brands last year because of price

TikTok 47.8m ad reach
Where people discover

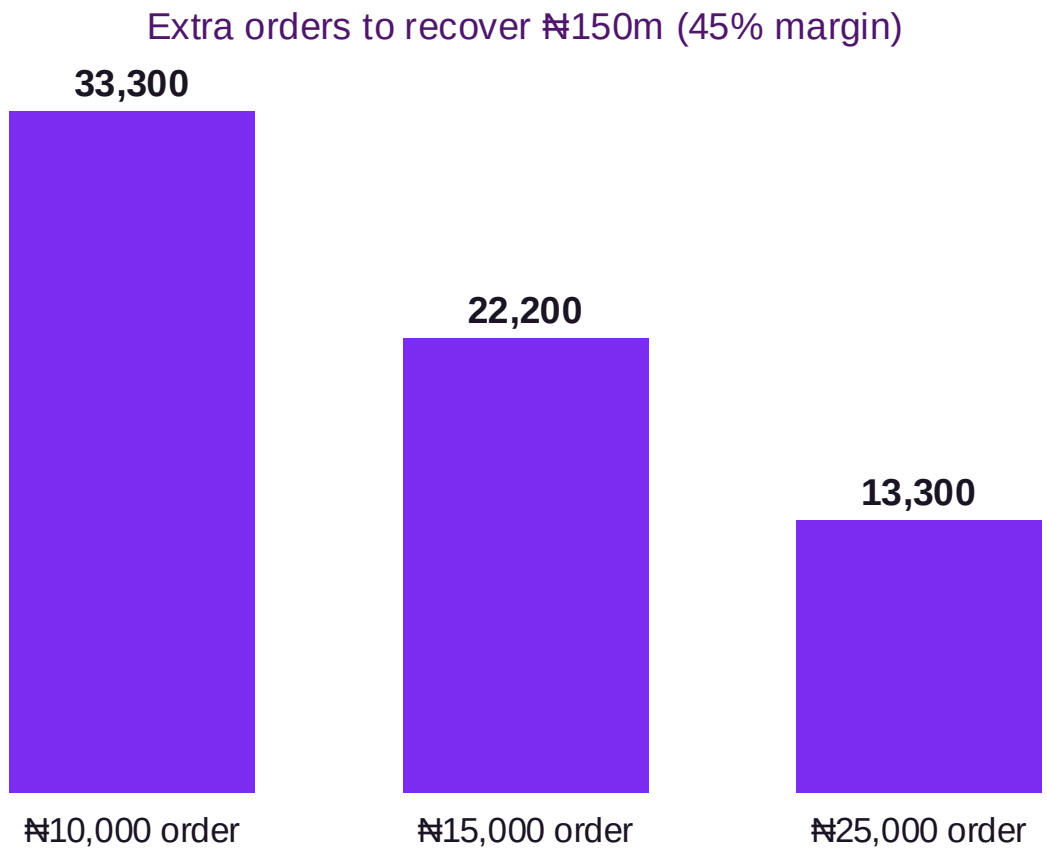

Instagram 10.0m ad reach, down 6.1%
Where people browse and buy

WhatsApp Used by 96.5% of internet users
Where people buy, ask and stay

A 2025 study of 350 Nigerian social media users: engagement and authenticity drive purchase intent; an influencer's reach does not.

Sources: Splice survey via TechCabal; NielsenIQ via Nairametrics; Redeemer's University (2025); Krestel, citing DataReportal

₦150m needs 13,000+ extra orders to pay back

Reach doesn't sell
In a 2025 Nigerian study, reach had no significant effect on purchase intent

Big accounts engage less
Mega accounts see 0.5–1% engagement; sampled Nigerian accounts show about 20% fake followers

The same money goes further
₦150m buys about 50 celebrity posts, or 600–3,000 micro creator posts

Still want a big name? Audit the audience, pay for one coded test post, then sign a smaller fee plus commission on sales.

Assumes a 45% gross margin; replace with Cosmo's real margin. Sources: Nitro; Snippet; Hypefy; Modash; Redeemer's University (2025)

The Cosmo Circle: every sale feeds the next one

Five moves make it work

1

A code in every pack

Scratch-code stickers applied at GVS's warehouse. Buyers verify on WhatsApp, earn points and join.

2

Three membership tiers

Member, Insider, Ambassador: there is always a next level worth reaching.

3

Glow Sessions

Monthly meet-ups of 40–60 with a dermatologist. ₦5,000 tickets come back as product vouchers.

4

Creators paid on sales

20–25 micro creators a month, each with a code. Base fee plus commission; keep the top third.

5

Members who sell

Ambassadors earn 10% commission; the best become verified resellers, listed publicly.

Positioning: verified original, from a certified factory, proven on Nigerian skin. Healthy, even skin; never lighter skin.

Three tiers: always a next level to reach

Member

Any buyer who verifies a pack code

- 5% back in points

- Content kit
- Monthly call with the founders
- Option to resell at wholesale

Cosmo gets: A sales force paid only on results

Every phase must earn the next one

How we track it

- Pack, creator, referral and reseller codes
- WhatsApp Business for code checks
- One customer list keyed on phone number
- Weekly dashboard, reviewed every Monday

₦120m in three stages, against ₦150m in one go

Where it goes	₦m
Micro creator base fees	30.0
Glow Sessions (29)	17.4
Cosmo Days (2)	15.0
Community lead and data officer	12.0
Paid boosts of member content	12.0
Pack codes, WhatsApp, database	8.0
Big-name test (optional)	8.0
Content, ARCON, campus, contingency	17.6
Total	120.0

Pays back at about ₦400m of extra sales. Commissions and rewards (about 15% of tracked sales) are paid only when sales happen.

Planning estimates; get quotes before Phase 1. Payback assumes a 45% gross margin.

What we need to start in November

Decisions and data

1. Six months of sales, orders, average order value and margin
2. Landed cost per product after freight and duty
3. Confirmation that the licence allows pack stickers and promotions
4. The hero product, and the skin problem it solves best
5. NAFDAC status of every product we plan to push
6. A full-time community lead from November

The Circle feels like spam
At most two broadcasts a week; mostly skin education, not offers

A bad reaction goes viral
Dermatologist on call; reply to every complaint within 24 hours

Ads breach ARCON rules
Vet campaign creative first; brief every creator on disclosure

The first 30 days

1

Record the baseline sales, margin, repeat rate

2

Order pack codes
and set up WhatsApp verification

3

Hire a community lead
full-time from November

4

Invite 100 founding members from buyers and creators' audiences

5

First Lagos Glow Session
in December, the festive season

Every sale tracked. Every phase earned.
